Energy Minister Chen Wei-lin stated at a press conference, "Taiwan has set an ambitious goal of generating 20% of its electricity from renewable sources by 2030. This investment brings us significantly closer to achieving that target."

The initiative is expected to create over 8,000 new jobs in construction, engineering, and maintenance. Several international companies, including WindPower Global from Denmark and SolarTech from Germany, have already expressed interest in participating in the projects.
